Austrian Airlines

Austrian Airlines is Austria's leading airline. Once a state-owned airline, the red-white-red airline still holds its conviction and operates a global route network. Its home airport, Vienna-Schwechat, is still a hub between East and West thanks to its favorable geographical location and Austria's history as a melting pot of the former crown lands. "AUA," as it likes to be abbreviated in Austria, has been part of the Lufthansa Group since 2009 and a member of the Star Alliance, the first global alliance of international airlines, since 2000. In 2018, it celebrated its 60th anniversary.
